Great American Outdoors Act

National Parks and Public Land Legacy Restoration Fund

The Great American Outdoors Act National Parks and Public Land Legacy Restoration Fund (GAOA LRF) is a commitment to protecting and sustaining our public lands.

Established on August 4, 2020, GAOA LRF allocated over $1.6 billion annually from fiscal years (FY) 2021 through 2025 to the Department of the Interior (Interior) to address priority deferred maintenance and repair needs on public lands and Bureau of Indian Education-funded schools. With GAOA LRF funding, Interior bureaus are:

- Funding 396 projects across 50 states, the District of Columbia, and multiple territories
- Addressing nearly $6 billion in deferred maintenance and repair
- Improving the condition of over 3,800 Interior assets

GAOA LRF Impacts Across America*

Repairing over 1,000 recreational and visitor experience assets

Improving ADA accessibility in nearly 50% of GAOA LRF projects

Each year of GAOA LRF funding is estimated to support an average of 17,000 jobs and contribute $1.9 billion to the U.S. economy

Improving facilities used by nearly 2,300 students and faculty at BIE-funded schools each year

The Freedom Riders and Birmingham Civil Rights National Monuments preserve important historic structures of the Civil Rights Movement. Components of these sites have fallen into disrepair and risk further deterioration. At Freedom Riders National Monument, this project will repair historic features of the Greyhound Bus Depot, replace the roof, upgrade building utility systems, and create space for visitor services at the Mural Building. At Birmingham Civil Rights National Monument, the project will rehabilitate the A.G. Gaston Motel, where Martin Luther King Jr. planned non-violent protests in the mid-1960s, restoring parts of the hotel to the way it looked in 1963. This project's restoration work will help tell the story of the Civil Rights Movement for years to come.

The Bon Secour National Wildlife Refuge encompasses some of Alabama's last remaining undisturbed coastal barrier habitat and protects many federally endangered and threatened species as well as migratory birds. The Bon Secour Headquarters Office and Maintenance buildings reached the end of their life expectancy, contained significant water damage and air quality issues, and no longer met the operational needs of the refuge. GAOA LRF is replacing the buildings with a consolidated single facility, improving employee and visitor experience to better meet the refuge's needs.
