In addition to the policy chapter the Department's agency specific procedures for implementing the Council on Environmental Quality principles and requirements for investments in Federal water resources are provided in a handbook that supplements the chapter. The new chapter and handbook contain revisions to the principles and guidelines that were originally issued in 1983. The new principles, requirements, and guidelines apply to Federal investments, including traditional infrastructure investments, grant and funding programs, and some land management plans that affect water quality or quantity.
