10am - 11am KS v. NE Supreme Court Argument

Where: Supreme Court
Calendar: Michael Connor
Created by: Gareth Rees
Description:
Here is the confirmed list of individuals who have tickets forTuesday's Supreme Court argument in Kansas v. Nebraska and Colorado: 1)Michael Connor (Deputy Secretary) 2) Jennifer Gimbel (Principal DeputyAssistant Secretary for Water and Science) 3) Estevan López (PrincipalDeputy Commissioner for Reclamation) 4) Camille Touton, (Counselor tothe Assistant Secretary for Water and Science) 5) Kristen Johnson(Attorney-Advisor, Office of the Solicitor) 6) Tosh Sagar(Attorney-Advisor, Office of the Solicitor) This website has some of the filings associated with this case and may be useful if you want toread some background information before the argument -http://www.scotusblog.com/case-files/cases/kansas-v-nebraska-and-colorado/Here is the information we received from the Solicitor General's Officeabout getting into the Court the morning of the argument: When you getto the court on Tuesday morning, you should check in at the Marshal'sOffice no later than 9:40am (a little earlier is probably better). Onceyou get to the Court, there is no need to wait outside. Enter throughthe northwest door (http://www.supremecourt.gov/visiting/vsa.aspx), andif a police officer stops you, let him or her know you are on theMarshall's list. Once you get inside, you will need to go up one floorto Level 1 – the Marshal's Office is in a hallway to the right of the Courtroom (if you are standing outside looking into the Courtroom). Anypolice officer will be able to point you there. Note that you may notbring phones, coats, purses, etc., into the Courtroom. The traditionalway to store those things if you bring them into the building is in a locker (which requires a quarter to operate) and at the coat check, butyou may also leave your things in the Solicitor General's office at theCourt, which is just around the corner from the Marshal's Office. (Thedoor is marked "Solicitor General" – it will be unlocked and you should feel free to come in.). Kansas v. Nebraska and Colorado is the firstargument of the day, and the argument should last approximately onehour. You will be allowed to leave before the second argument starts.Obviously, you are free to stay to hear the second case on the Court's docket. Here is some information on that case – North Carolina Board ofDental Examiners v. FTC -http://www.scotusblog.com/case-files/cases/north-carolina-board-of-dental-examiners-v-federal-trade-commission/As I understand it, Crystal Rice (cc'd here) in the Commissioner' sOffice is setting up a car to take attendees to and from the Court.Please confirm with Crystal if you would like a ride, and she canprovide additional details. Finally, I am not attending the argumentand those who are attending are unlikely to have access to their cellphones the morning of the argument, so if you have any problems orquestions the morning of the argument, please feel free to call my cellphone (Non-responsive Thanks a lot and have a nice long weekend, Carter
