

TELEWORK FACT SHEET

FS 12-02: Time and Attendance

October 2012

1. Why is it important that I record my telework in our time and attendance system?

Information about telework is reported to the Office of Personnel Management and the Congress. Bureau, Office and Department leaders make decisions about telework, staffing and space based on telework information in our time and attendance systems, so we need to have accurate information.

2. If my official duty station is my home or I am away from my organization (where your supervisor is located), how do I record my time?

All time that you spend at your “remote” official duty location is considered telework. In either case, you should record your hours using telework indicator code “C”.

3. How do I record my time in Quicktime (for all DOI organizations except BOR)?

When completing the timesheet, the employee or timekeeper should click the cursor in the Telework Indicator (TI) column (to the right of the Account Number – see Figure 1, below) to access the Telework Indicator Codes.

these codes. The Telework Indicator Code is to be used by employees or timekeepers in the Quicktime system to indicate the employee's particular telework status attributed to the specific number of hours during that payroll period.

3. How do I record my time in Electronic Time and Attendance System (E-TAS) (for BOR employees only)?

Steps to Enter Time: Employee Teleworks on Monday

Employee is authorized to participate and begins to telework. Make sure the proper pay codes are used; in this example, pay code 010 is used for regular time, and pay code 230 for credit hours earned.

After entering telework hours/time you will then select the “Details” on the same line of your timesheet as shown in red on the right hand side of the example. Please note that this employee teleworked only on Monday, all non-telework hours worked are entered on a separate line to keep telework hours distinct from non-telework hours.
