Date: Wednesday, May 31, 2017 1:08:46 PM

For those who are interested, here is a link to the recording of the training session this morning on the DiscoverText system we are using to analyze public comments.

So noted in the training session, we likely will adopt a different coding system for the rest of the monuments, as those comments are likely to be more complex; almost all Bears Ears comments are either "against" or "for" any changes, with the overwhelming majority opposed to any changes.
